ENROLLMENT

Methods of computing--Confusion sometimes results from the various ways in which enrollment may be computed. One computation is the number of different individuals, exclusive of correspondence students, enrolled during one entire academic year. This includes two winter semesters and the preceding summer session. For the 1938-39 year (including 1938 summer), this total was 17,500 individuals. Some of these were at the University through both semesters and the summer, others only during the winter semesters, only during the summer, or only during one semester. For details of total individuals enrolled during the 1938-39 academic year see last column of the table on page 10. A second enrollment computation is the first semester enrollment which is the greatest number of persons on the campus at one time. (See next page.) About 87 per cent of the students are Illinois residents.

Enrollment, first semester, 1939-40:

	Men	Women	Total

SERVICES

Courses--Each semester approximately 1,850 courses are offered in the Urbana-Champaign and Chicago departments. Many of these courses have numerous sections because of the large enrollment. The total number of sections each semester is about 4,000. There are 107 sections of the freshman rhetoric course alone.

Extension--The Division of University Extension maintains correspondence courses, extra-mural courses, the Visual Aids service, and the Speech Aids service. Eighty-six college-level courses are offered by mail. Total enrollment in a year is about 1,200. Credit towards a University degree is allowed. Twelve extra-mural classes are being taught this year in as many Illinois cities by University faculty members who go to their classes each week. The Visual Aids service provides 300 schools with 20,000 film subjects. Its films were seen during the past year by audiences totaling approximately 1,250,000.

Agricultural extension--The extension service in agriculture and home economics is carried on through the College of Agriculture. It has some 71 specialists in these fields, including 4-H club work. They maintain contact with 97 farm advisers serving 102 counties, and 63 home advisers serving 69 counties.

Radio station WILL--The only state-owned, non-commercial, educational radio station in Illinois is that of the University, WILL. It operates daily, except Sunday, from 7 a.m. to local sunset. Its frequency is 580 kilocycles. Power of 5,000 watts enables this station to be heard by listeners in most parts of Illinois and in nearby areas of adjacent states.

Library--Illinois has the largest of all state university libraries, and the fifth largest American university library. There are about 1,117,000 volumes, 320,000 pamphlets, 3,900 maps, and 10,600 pieces of sheet music in the main library and 16 departmental libraries at Urbana-Champaign; and about 58,000 volumes and 10,000 pamphlets in the departments at Chicago. More than 30,000 volumes are added each year. The recorded use by students and faculty exceeds 1,000,000 calls a year.

Research--See page 9.

HISTORY

The University of Illinois was chartered February 28, 1867, by the state general assembly as the Illinois Industrial university. It has the distinction of being the land grant college of the state in which the land grant college movement originated in 1851; the state which was the home of President Abraham Lincoln who signed the land grant college act in 1862. The University opened March 2, 1868, with 50 students and three faculty members. Women were admitted in 1870. In 1885 the name was changed to University of Illinois.

Urbana-Champaign departments--From the beginning, instruction was offered in agriculture, engineering, and the liberal arts and sciences. Graduate work was organized in 1892. Summer sessions were started in 1894. Studies in law were organized as a school in 1896, and as a college in 1900. The School of Music was organized in 1897, and now is a part of the College of Fine and Applied Arts, which was organized in 1931. In 1897 the Library school was formed by the acquisition of the School of Library Economy which had been organized in 1893 at the Armour Institute in Chicago. Business training was started in 1900, and organized into the College of Commerce in 1915. Journalism instruction was begun in 1902, and the School of Journalism organized in 1927. The School of Education was organized in 1905, and became a college in 1918. The School of Physical Education was organized in 1932.

Chicago departments--The School of Pharmacy was organized in 1896 by the acquisition of the Chicago College of Pharmacy, founded in 1859, and in 1932 became the College of Pharmacy. In 1897 the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago, established in 1881, became affiliated with the University of Illinois, and in 1913 became the College of Medicine. The College of Dentistry was formed in 1905 from a department created in 1901 in the College of Medicine.

Research—The University of Illinois is internationally known for its research accomplishments. Agricultural research was begun at an early date, and the Agricultural Experiment station was organized in 1898. The oldest soil experiment plots in America, the Morrow plots first planted in 1876, are on the Urbana-Champaign campus. The Engineering Experiment station, first in America, was established in 1903; the Bureau of Educational Research in 1918; Bureau of Business Research in 1921; Bureau of Community Planning in 1934. The headquarters of the Illinois State Natural History survey, State Water survey, and State Geological survey are located on the campus at Urbana-Champaign.

Research that is paying a definite return is worth millions of dollars annually to the state and nation. Outstanding investigations have been made and are being carried on in agriculture, engineering, chemistry, medicine, and many other fields. Of every operating dollar, about 13 cents is spent directly for organized research. In addition, many investigations are financed in whole or in large part by individuals and groups (including industrial and commercial organizations), and the results are published by the University for the benefit of everyone.

ALUMNI

Alumni Association--The University of Illinois Alumni association was founded in 1873. Current officers are: Charles H. Thompson '09, Champaign, president; Irene D. Pierson '25, Urbana, first vice-president; Waldo Ames '17, Chicago, second vice-president; Charles Wham '12, Centralia, immediate past president; Carl Stephens '12, Urbana, general secretary and editor of "Alumni News;" Gleyn Goodwine '23, Urbana, treasurer. Living alumni and former students of the University total some 130,000, of whom 71,000 are living in the state of Illinois.

Alumni Foundation--The University of Illinois Foundation was established in 1935 to encourage gifts to the University. It is sponsoring the new $1,400,000 Illini Union building. Officers of the foundation are: Charles M. Thompson, Champaign, president; Charles S. Pillsbury, Chicago, vice-president; James C. Colvin, Urbana, secretary. Principal alumni gift to the University previous to establishment of the foundation was the $2,000,000 Memorial stadium, dedicated in 1924 to former students killed in the World war. Each graduating class also has left a gift. Several classes together gave the famous "Alma Mater" statuary group by Lorado Taft (an Illinois graduate in 1879), the chimes in the Law building tower, and other memorials.

STUDENT WELFARE

Counselling--For personal counselling, the Dean of Men and Dean of Women and their staffs are advisors of first resort for students with problems. They also are a last resort for individual problems unsolved by other agencies. The Personnel Bureau in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences deals with scholastic, vocational, and personal problems through application of psychological methods and tests by trained workers. The results are interpreted to the individuals by counsellors who are selected faculty members in close contact with student life and affairs. Advice of the Bureau is available to all students and also to prospective students. The deans of the colleges and directors of the schools also advise students and prospective students. Placement service for graduates is carried on by the colleges and schools, supplemented by the offices of the Dean of Men and Dean of Women.

Health--A physical examination by the University Health Service is required of new students. The Health Service physicians are available to students for advice or consultation. They also teach courses in elementary hygiene and sanitation which are required of all freshmen. A fully equipped hospital is maintained at Urbana-Champaign by the University. (The College of Medicine is at Chicago.) Because most students when ill would not receive the care in their campus living quarters that they would if at home, they are urged to utilize the hospital. Expense of hospital care is met in many cases through voluntary membership in a mutual-benefit hospital association, founded in 1898, which has 6,000 student and faculty members at present.

Housing--Living conditions and off-campus activities of students are supervised by the Division of Student Housing created in 1939. One third of the women students live in 24 sororities; 350 in three University women's residence halls; 50 in three University co-operative houses; the remaining women live in private homes under University regulations. One-third of the men students live in 62 fraternities. At present the University has only one small residence unit for men, but plans are being prepared for a three-unit structure to house 300 men after September, 1941. Privately operated dormitories and rooming houses for men are inspected and approved by the University.

Costs--Student budgets at the Urbana-Champaign campus vary from $500 or $600 per year to $800 or more. This includes incidental (tuition) fees of $70 a year for Illinois residents or $125 a year for out-of-state students. Costs for students enrolled in the colleges located in Chicago are higher.

Employment--More than one-third of the students at Urbana-Champaign earn a part of their expenses while attending the University. A few earn almost all. Room and board jobs make up about half the work available. The other half is of many kinds. The University maintains an employment bureau for arranging part-time employment for students. No charge is made for this service, which includes both temporary and year-around jobs. This bureau also has charge of student employment under the National Youth administration, which provides federal funds to aid a limited number of specially needy students. The assignment of NYA jobs, the number of students hired, and the rate of pay are governed by federal regulations.

Loans and scholarships--Student loans, temporary or long-term, are arranged through the dean of men or dean of women. Funds for this purpose have been provided by gifts of various groups and individuals. A large number of scholarships are granted regularly through competitive examinations or selections.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Scholarship--Each spring an Honors day convocation is held to recognize the leading students. All leading national honorary organizations have chapters at the University. Two national honorary organizations to encourage high scholarship among freshmen, Phi Eta Sigma for men, Alpha Lambda Delta for women, were founded at Illinois and now have chapters throughout the nation. Recognition is given annually to fraternities, sororities, and independent groups ranking high in scholarship.

Military training--Two years of military training are required of undergraduate men except those specially exempted. The University's R.O.T.C. brigade is one of the largest in the nation. Present enrollment is 3,988, exclusive of University bands. Of this enrollment, 563 men are in the optional two-year advanced work leading to a commission as second lieutenant in the U.S. army reserve. Units comprising the Illinois R.O.T.C. brigade are: infantry, cavalry, field artillery, coast artillery, engineers, signal corps.

Religious opportunities--Although the University of Illinois is non-sectarian, various religious groups have established Foundations or "church homes away from home" adjacent to the campus. The church foundation idea originated at Urbana in 1913 when the Wesley Foundation was established. Now there are nine religious Foundations near the University campus; three other churches in Urbana-Champaign are attended chiefly by students and faculty members. A $300,000 Y.M.C.A. building was dedicated in 1938. The Y.W.C.A. also has a large building adjacent to the campus.

Extra-curricular activities--Student publications include the "Daily Illini," full-size morning newspaper with Associated Press leased wire service and $90,000 plant; the "Illio," a huge yearbook; and several specialized publications. University of Illinois Bands have received the highest praise of such men as John Philip Sousa, Edwin Franko Goldman, and Frank Simons. Other musical organizations are a Chorus, Concert Orchestra, Men's Glee Club, and Women's Glee Club. The Illini Theatre Guild presents many productions each year. The Broadcasters present drama and other radio activity over the University's radio station, WILL. Some 275 specialized social, scholastic, religious, and honorary organizations embrace practically every field of endeavor and interest.

All men are members of the Illinois Union. Fraternity members are united in the Inter-Fraternity Council. The Men's Independent District Association embraces all non-fraternity men. All women are members of Woman's League, which is composed of Pan-Hellenic society comprising all sororities, Residence Group system comprising the women's residence halls and co-operative houses, and Women's Group system comprising groups embracing all other undergraduate women.

Traditions--University of Illinois colors are orange and blue; nickname, Illini, pronounced "ill-eye'-nigh"; symbol, Indian; most famous songs, "Illinois Loyalty" and "Hail to the Orange."
