FOREWORD

The directories prepared by the Illini Club of Chicago in previous years have been so well received that the Club has decided to publish another one this year and probably will continue to do so annually. We hope that this directory will be of genuine service to you. It is issued solely to bring Illinois men living in the vicinity of Chicago closer together and to promote a warmer friendship among them.

We hope in this way that an increasing number will become active in Illini affairs. You will note that the active members of the Club are printed in a separate list on page 23, and that, while constituting a large organization, they compose only a very small percentage of the whole number eligible to membership. Yet it is this few who are responsible for all the activities of the Club outlined in this directory on page 21, and who are active in the Alumni and University affairs. We urge you to become a member, if you have not already done so, and meet with us at the weekly luncheons and join with us in the activities of the Club and of the University. We feel this will benefit you, the Club and the University. Accordingly we have printed several membership cards on the last pages of this directory which we hope you and your friends will use.

A great effort has been made to make this directory as complete and accurate as possible. To this end reference has been made to all available material, previous directories, names in the Club files, those at the Alumni Office, Stadium subscribers and student organization rosters.

Errors, doubtless, have occurred, and omissions made. Responsibility for errors and omissions must not be ascribed to the compiler, however. Many men failed to reply to the questionnaire sent them and many replies were incomplete. To avoid these difficulties in subsequent issues of the book, we urge that prompt use be made of the information blank found on page 437.

Acknowledgment is made for the wholehearted service rendered by George E. Owen, as Chairman of the Directory Committee, in compiling this directory. Acknowledgment is also made for the help rendered by President Kinley in his encouragement of the project, by Carl Stephens in preparing articles and procuring illustrations, by L. M. Tobin in submitting material concerning athletics, and by C. J. Roseberry in making available the information which he has through his work with the Alumni Association and the Stadium. It is also fitting that acknowledgment be made of the fact that the patronage of the advertisers in this directory has made possible its free distribution.

Please accept this directory with the cordial good wishes of

THE ILLINI CLUB OF CHICAGO.

Bruce Van Cleave, President.

DAVID KINLEY
President University of Illinois

Urbana, Illinois,

TO THE ALUMNI OF CHICAGO AND VICINITY:

The opportunity to send you an annual greeting through the medium of this Directory is always a welcome privilege.

The year just closed, 1925-26, was, I believe, in all respects a successful one for your University, as well as the biggest, in point of numbers, in its history. The total enrollment for the year in the Urbana Departments was 10,710 and in the Chicago Departments, 1136. These figures do not include the Summer Sessions. The summer enrollment in 1925 was 2412 and in 1926, 2116. At Commencement in June, 1926, 1475 degrees, including 234 graduate and professional degrees, were conferred in the Urbana Departments alone. The total number receiving degrees in Medicine, Dentistry, and Pharmacy in the Chicago Professional Schools was 280.

At the beginning of the year, five important new buildings, the new Commerce Building, the Dairy Manufacturers Building, the new Men's Gymnasium, the new Residence Hall for women and the McKinley Hospital were occupied. The Commerce Building and Gymnasium were the only additions to class room and office space, the others being service buildings. Notwithstanding these additions, however, the total square feet of class room and laboratory floor space per student is still less than it was fifteen and twenty years ago. The increasing enrollment has absorbed much of the space provided by the new buildings. However, they have improved very materially conditions over what they were three and four years ago, but there are still many building needs for which to provide. Moreover, with prospect of further increase in the enrollment in the next few years, it is reasonable to expect that the University will have to continue putting up new buildings to keep up with new needs, let alone catching up with the old. I trust that those of you who have had an opportunity to see the new buildings on the South

An aerial photograph of Mexico City, Mexico, showing the venues for the 1968 Summer Olympics. The image is marked with numbered circles from 1 to 15, indicating specific locations. The venues include the Estadio Olímpico (1), the Estadio Nacional (2), the Estadio de Fútbol (3), the Estadio de Fútbol (4), the Estadio de Fútbol (5), the Estadio de Fútbol (6), the Estadio de Fútbol (7), the Estadio de Fútbol (8), the Estadio de Fútbol (9), the Estadio de Fútbol (10), the Estadio de Fútbol (11), the Estadio de Fútbol (12), the Estadio de Fútbol (13), the Estadio de Fútbol (14), and the Estadio de Fútbol (15). The photograph shows the city's layout, including the large stadium complex and surrounding urban areas.

THIS COMES the closest to being a complete picture of the campus at Urbana. The only things missing are a few agricultural buildings on the south farm. You are looking northeast. (1) The stadium. (2) Beginnings of the new gymnasium. (3) Foundations of new library, with (4) the new commerce building just south. The other new buildings under way are (5) the McKinley hospital in the forestry, and (6) the dairy manufactures building.

The north edge of the campus is marked by the baseball diamond (7), the new. A new woman's residence hall is to be built near the old main building of the college of agriculture, and at (11), rather dimly, at (15) the mushroom-like speck is the observatory.

The Smith memorial music hall is at (13), the armory at (14); at (10) is the old University Hall (8), and Engineering Hall (9).

On the operating side, the University has been running very smoothly. Salaries compare favorably with those in other institutions and the University's financial condition is good. We have been able to keep several of our big men on the faculty in spite of calls they have received from other institutions and have added several new outstanding men to the staff. The spirit and attitude of the students has been excellent.

With regards and best wishes to you all, I am,

David Kinley
President

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS has for more than fifty years held to its original purpose to publish a good newspaper, sincere in its convictions, enterprising in its newsgathering and independent in its advocacy of all that best serves the public interest. It aims to print only clean, true news.

Its editorial policy is based on a full recognition and acceptance of a moral responsibility to all the people, irrespective of racial, political, religious and industrial distinctions. That it has met with unusual success is testified to by the fact that its circulation has grown from approximately 10,000 in 1876 to more than 400,000 in 1926, distributed wherever Chicago citizens build their homes.

ILLINI CLUB OF CHICAGO*By R. E. Schreiber, '04*

In 1876 the Chicago Alumni Association of the University of Illinois was formed. That association met from time to time in various local alumni events and celebrations. A number of years later the graduates of the Engineering Schools of the University began to meet at weekly luncheons.

A joint meeting of the members of the Engineers' Club and the members of the Chicago Alumni Association was held whenever all Chicago Alumni found it desirable to participate in some University of Illinois Alumni enterprise.

The growing number of alumni who, year after year, came to Chicago as permanent residents, and the increasing opportunities that arose for the alumni in Cook County to become associated in some work for the welfare of the University, caused these two groups to become united in 1908 as the Illini Club of Chicago.

The members met weekly, club activities increased and, on March 26, 1913, the Illini Club of Chicago became incorporated with the object to cultivate good fellowship among the members of the Club and to effect united action in promoting the welfare of the University of Illinois.

Permanent quarters were secured in the Chicago Engineers' Club Building at 314 Federal Street, and the Club quarters were maintained until April 30, 1918, when war enlistments decreased the membership to such an extent that the remaining members could not continue the activities of the Club.

Since that time the Club has continued its annual and special meetings, and has been active in various ways to keep the graduates and former students of the University of Illinois, now residing in Chicago, interested in the work of the University of Illinois.

The Club is now meeting each Thursday for luncheon in Mandel's Grill.

Among its many activities in Chicago, the Club has sponsored the University of Illinois Military Band concerts, the Glee Club contests, the student's opera, the football banquets, football returns by special wire, smokers and dances.

Membership in the Illini Club of Chicago includes membership in the Alumni Association of the University of Illinois, and gives the member the privileges of that Association together with its publications. Application for membership in the Club may be made on the blank furnished for your convenience on pages 439 and 441.

A list of our members is printed separately on the following pages. We believe it should include every alumnus and former student whose interest in the University continues. All men who have attended either Urbana or Chicago departments are eligible to membership.

While all Illinois men are welcomed to our activities, members of the Club will always be given preference and in all cases where admission is by ticket there will always be an advance offering to Illini Club members.

We are, of course, pleased that this list is becoming larger each year as Illinois men in Chicago come to realize that besides showing that intangible thing called Loyalty, membership in the Illini Club brings many solid benefits.

THE ILLINI CLUB OF CHICAGO Is the Center of All University of Illinois Activities in Cook County

This is the third directory issued by the Illini Club of Chicago. The first was of 260 pages and listed 3,622 names. The second had 304 pages and 4,186 names. This book has 5,496 names, each listed alphabetically and cross indexed by a classified list.

The first book was published under great difficulties, the principal one being that there was no list of local alumni that ever pretended to be accurate.

We believe that as the second issue was superior to the first this and future issues will be more complete, accurate and therefore increasingly valuable to members and advertisers alike.

HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

By Carl Stephens, '12

Secretary, Alumni Association, and Editor, Illinois Alumni News

On June 5, 1873, a small group of graduates headed by C. W. Rolfe, '72, gathered in the old Mechanical Building to organize the University of Illinois Alumni Association. S. A. Reynolds, '72, was elected president, and C. I. Hays, '73, secretary. A constitution was adopted, the preamble of which read: "We, the alumni of the Illinois Industrial University, in order to foster a spirit of fraternal feeling, preserve and perpetuate a profound interest in our Alma Mater, do hereby adopt the following constitution and by-laws for our guidance." The only duty of the members was to report annually to the secretary. Charter members were the twenty graduates of the University up to that time.

Not much was really done until 1882, the date of the first decennial reunion, when it was decided to make every tenth year a rallying period. The second decennial in '92 was especially successful; it brought back five hundred old graduates.

Thus the Association meandered along until about 1906, when it became obvious that some kind of publication was needed. At the annual meeting of the Association in that year a committee of five alumni was appointed to start an alumni magazine: T. A. Clark, '90, Frank W. Scott, '01, A. N. Talbot, '81, H. L. McCune, '83, Mildred Burrill Stone, '03. This committee had little to count on except the good wishes of the Alumni Association, and the determination to give Illinois alumni, a medium of exchange. Mr. Scott in the preparation of the 1906 Alumni Record had accomplished and filed a large amount of Illini data. With this on hand as a start, the outlines of the proposed journal began to show through the mist, and the editorial problem looked easier.

More perplexing was the financial situation. The Alumni Association then was little more than a literary society, meeting once a year to call the roll, read off the marriages and deaths, recommend candidates for University trustee, and listen to an address. These performances called for no heavy budget or bonded treasurer. The financing of such a project as a 60-page quarterly magazine brought one substantial gasp from the Alumni Association, followed by a hasty delegation of all powers to the magazine committee. It came to pass finally that the two members heading the committee—Dean Clark and Mr. Scott—made themselves financially responsible for the first number, and E. C. Flanagan, ex-'97, then business manager of the Gazette, did the printing without asking embarrassing questions. The first issue, published January 15, 1907, comprised 60 pages.

In 1913, Fortnightly Notes was started as a supplement to the Quarterly, and the two were continued to July, 1915. Beginning with October, 1915, they were combined into The Alumni Quarterly and Fortnightly Notes, or "A. Q. F. N.," as it came to be called. This gave the subscriber 20 pages every two weeks and a double number corresponding to the old Quarterly every three months. The first year the Quarterly had a total of 264 pages, exclusive of advertising. The A. Q. F. N. for 1915-16 ran to 464 pages. In the fall of 1919 the old Quarterly numbers were discontinued altogether and a fortnightly 16-page magazine was run ten months in the year. The page size was enlarged to 7x10 inches. Beginning with the fall of 1922 the name was changed to Illinois Alumni News, and has remained so ever since. The magazine was shifted to a monthly, varying from 32 to 44 pages.

[In 1913 the present Editor and Secretary, Carl Stephens, '12, came to the staff of the Alumni Association as assistant secretary and assistant editor to help Mr. Scott carry the increasing burden of Association activities. He was elected Editor and Secretary-Treasurer in 1919, and managed the affairs of the Association until the growing responsibilities of the office made the task impossible for one man.] In 1921, C. J. Roseberry, '05, was chosen Business Manager and Treasurer, and the editorial and secretarial duties were separated from those of a financial and promotional nature.

The original home of the Quarterly and of the publishers, the Alumni Association, was in the outer office of Dean Clark in the Library Building. The equipment which the editor started with was composed of a desk, a card index of the subscribers, and the records used in compiling the 1906 Alumni Record. The general mailing room of the University was used. In 1908 the outfit was moved to the third floor of Engineering Hall; and in August, 1915, the present quarters in the Administration Building were occupied—now consisting of four rooms at the north end of the third floor. In 1913 a new constitution was adopted, and the organization was put on a sound foundation. The old association, which had been little more than a literary society, has grown into a strong and influential organization of 5,000 members, with full-time officers in charge.

Those in charge of the effort to make the Alumni Association of real power and assistance to the University and to each member invites and urges every former student as well as graduate to join the Association direct or through the nearest Illini Club. Membership carries with it a subscription to the Illinois Alumni News, the best Alumni Magazine published. The Illini Club of Chicago will have twice as many members when this Cook County list becomes alive to real values.

HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY

By Carl Stephens, '12,

Secretary, Alumni Association and Editor, Illinois Alumni News

The University was incorporated in 1867 as the Illinois Industrial University, following the act of Congress known as the "Morrill Land Grant," whereby the national government gave each state in the Union public land scrip equal to 30,000 acres for each senator and representative in Congress, "for the endowment, support, and maintenance of at least one college."

The institution was placed under the control of a Board of Trustees, consisting of the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the President of the State Board of Agriculture, besides twenty-eight citizens appointed by the Governor. The chief executive officer was the Regent, who was ex-officio a member of the Board and presiding officer of both the Board and the Faculty. In 1873, the number of members was reduced to eleven—the Governor and the President of the State Board of Agriculture, ex-officio, and nine others, who were still appointed by the Governor. In 1887, a new law made membership on the Board elective at a general State election and restored the Superintendent of Public Instruction as a member ex-officio. At present there are eleven members, two ex-officio and nine elective.

In 1885, the name was changed from Illinois Industrial University to University of Illinois.

The office of executive head of the institution has been held by six persons: John Milton Gregory, 1867-1880; Selim Hobart Peabody, 1880-1891; Thomas Jonathan Burrill, Acting Regent, 1891-1894; Andrew Sloan Draper, 1894-1904; Edmund Janes James, 1904-1920; David Kinley, President since 1920 (Acting President, 1919-1920).

The University opened in 1868 with 50 students; the faculty consisted of the Regent and two professors. During the first term another instructor was added, and the number of students increased to 77—all men.

According to the original State law, the usual diplomas and degrees could not be granted by the University; certificates showing studies and attainments were given instead. The certificates proved unsatisfactory, and in 1877 the Legislature gave the University authority to confer degrees and issue diplomas.

In addition to the original endowment, Congress has made further provision by the second Morrill act of 1890 ($25,000 a year); the Adams act of 1900 ($15,000 a year for research and experimental work); Nelson act of 1907 ($25,000 a year). The mill tax law in 1911 provides a fund for the maintenance and operation of the University, thus inaugurating a policy of definite partial provision for the institution.

In 1892, graduate work was undertaken under the name of the Graduate School. The first summer session was held in 1894. The department of music became the School of Music in 1897. The work in law was organized as the School of Law in 1896 (name changed to College of Law, 1900). The General Assembly made a special appropriation in 1900 to establish courses of training for business life, and the Trustees organized the Courses in Business Administration, which in 1915 became the College of Commerce and Business Administration. In 1905, the Trustees established a School of Education, which became the College of Education in 1918. The School of Railway Engineering and Administration was created in 1907, following the establishment in 1906 of the department of railway engineering. The General Assembly in 1909 established the department of mining engineering. In 1913, the College of Literature and Arts and the College of Science were united to form the present College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Experimental work and research in agriculture and the related sciences was begun at an early date. In 1888, the Agricultural Experiment Station was founded, and in 1903 the Engineering Experiment Station. Similar organizations on a smaller scale are the Bureau of Educational Research (1918) and the Bureau of Business Research (1921). The facilities for scientific research have been increased by the location at the University of certain State organizations—State Laboratory of Natural History (1885), State Water Survey (1897), State Entomologist's Office (1899), merged with the Laboratory of Natural History to form the State Natural History Survey in 1917; State Geological Survey (1905).

The Chicago College of Pharmacy, founded in 1859, became the School of Pharmacy of the University in 1896. The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago was affiliated with the University under a lease in 1897, and the stock and assets of the College were presented to the University in 1913. The School of Dentistry, organized as a department of the College of Medicine in 1901, became the College of Dentistry in 1905.

In 1897, the School of Library Economy, established in 1893 at the Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago, was transferred to the University, the Director of that school was appointed Librarian of the University, and the Library School was opened.

Today the University has more than 13,000 students, and a faculty and administrative staff of about 1,400, many of whom are nationally known. The University has to its credit numerous discoveries and achievements in research.

THE MCKINLEY—UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL
(The Forestry in the Background)

THE UNIVERSITY'S BUILDING PROGRAM

In September, 1925, the beginning of the academic year 1925-26, five important new buildings were put into use. They are the New Commerce Building, the West Residence Hall for Women, the new Men's Gymnasium, the Dairy Manufactures Building, and the McKinley University Hospital. The latter is the gift of Senator William B. McKinley and provides hospital facilities for students and faculty and can accommodate up to one hundred patients. The Hospital and New Commerce Building were dedicated with appropriate ceremonies in the spring of this year.

All of the buildings provided by the Legislature for the 1925-27 building program are under construction. They include:

Addition to the New Men's Gymnasium.

Addition (book stack unit) to the New Library.

Addition to the Armory.

Building for Architecture and Kindred Subjects.

Building for School of Pharmacy (in Chicago).

The Addition which is being built on the South end of the New Men's Gymnasium and which will house the swimming pool and a small gymnasium is being completed and will be occupied this scholastic year (1926-27). This Addition will cost $225,000.00.

The stack room addition to the New Library is being completed and will be occupied this scholastic year (1926-27). Work is being started on the North wing, which will house the Library School, the Library workrooms and minor reading rooms, and it will be occupied the next scholastic year (1927-28). These additions will cost $500,000.

The Addition to the Armory, which consists of finished facades for the existing building provides offices, classrooms and supply rooms for the Military Department, is under construction and will be occupied the scholastic year 1927-1928. This structure will cost $425,000.00.

Work is being started on the Building for Architecture and Allied Subjects which will provide classrooms, drafting rooms, departmental library and studios. This building will be occupied the scholastic year 1927-28 and will cost $500,000.00.

The building which is under construction in Chicago for the School of Pharmacy will house classrooms, laboratories, and offices. It will be connected with the existing Pharmacy buildings at 701 South Wood Street and will give the school room much needed for expansion. The School of Pharmacy is the only one recognized by the State of Illinois in licensing pharmacists, and its facilities have been taxed to the utmost for several years. The new building will be occupied the scholastic year 1927-28 and will cost $350,000.00.

With the completion of the main unit and book stack unit of the New Library this year, the present Library building will be turned over to the College of Law. This arrangement, long anticipated and looked forward to, will provide dignified, spacious and convenient quarters for the College of Law and the book stack space in the present Library will provide for the natural expansion of the Law Library for many years.

THE PHARMACY BUILDINGS
(New Building from the Architect's Drawing)

New Buildings and Extended Course Will Put University of Illinois School of Pharmacy in Front Rank

Pharmacists of the state will be interested in plans for the new building of the School of Pharmacy and for making use of the building formerly occupied by the Institute for Juvenile Research which has lately been turned over to it.

The University of Illinois owns the entire frontage on Wood street between Flournoy and Polk street and extending back to the alley, with the exception of two lots on Polk street adjoining the alley. The frontage on Wood street is approximately 400 feet and the depth of the lots is approximately 125 feet. On this property there are now the two buildings occupied by the School of Pharmacy and connected by a tower building which provides corridors at each floor, also the building now vacant, which was formerly occupied by the Institute for Juvenile Research and which has just been taken over by the School of Pharmacy.

Adjoining these buildings is a vacant lot approximately 80x125 feet in size and upon this lot will be erected the building provided for in the appropriation of $350,000 made by the legislature at its last session. The buildings the School now occupies provide six laboratories, two lecture halls and a recitation room as well as offices, locker room, etc.

The old building, now taken over and which will be remodeled for the use of the School, will provide one lecture room, three recitation rooms and several offices and students' rooms.

The new building, plans for which have now been completed and the work upon which will begin soon, will afford five laboratories, one recitation room, and offices. The new building will also provide a corridor extending from the present north buildings to the remodeled Juvenile Research building, so that the four buildings will then be connected by corridors on each floor and this in effect will make them into one. The student capacity of the laboratories is based upon units of 72 for each laboratory and the ten laboratories will thus give capacity for 720 students working at one time. It is expected that when the three-year course is fully established the enrollment will be approximately as follows:

First year	268 students
Second year	216 students
Third year	216 students
Total	700 students

During the session of 1926-27 only the first and second years of this three-year course will be offered, therefore there will be no graduating class in June, 1927.

The new building will be of fire-proof construction and will have a most modern equipment. Features will be a laboratory devoted entirely to dispensing of prescriptions and a laboratory for organic pharmaceutical chemistry, both of which are new to the School. The library installation will be entirely new, the shelf capacity will be increased to care for 8,000 volumes and the seating capacity as compared with the present library will be doubled.

When the third year of the three-year course is offered, several additional instructors will be required and it is expected to secure some of these during the coming year. With the completion of the new building the School of Pharmacy will be one of the largest in the country and one of the best equipped, and it is hoped that this enlargement for the facilities of instruction may now adequately care for the students from Illinois who desire to qualify to practice pharmacy.

Preference is given to students from Illinois as compared with those from outside of the state by requiring students from other states than Illinois to pay a higher tuition fee and to present evidence of a higher scholastic average in their high school work. As a matter of fact, 98 per cent of the students now attending the School are from Illinois and more than half are from Chicago.

RANDOM REMINDERS

Enrollment—13,399 students registered during 1925-26. Illinois ranks third among the universities of the country in the number of regular, full-time students, being exceeded only by California and Columbia.

Proportion of Men and Women—There are 2.4 men to every woman student at the U. of I. (9,522 men; 3,877 women.)

Holders of Degrees—28,429 degrees have been conferred since the chartering of the University in 1867. (Living alumni of all universities and colleges in the United States and Canada number about 3,000,000.)

Who's Who Alumni—188 graduates and former students, the majority of whom are educators, are listed in the 1925 edition of "Who's Who in America."

Library—The bookstacks contain 683,328 volumes and 94,467 pamphlets.

"West Point of the Corn Belt"—3,363 students registered for military in 1925-26. The R. O. T. C. unit is the largest in the country. War equipment, $2,000,000 in value, has been assigned to the University by the government for training purposes.

Acreage and Buildings—The land occupied totals 2,430 acres. Main campus, 305; Chicago campus, 2 1-5; experimental farms at Urbana-Champaign, 1,028; other experimental farms and timber reservations, 1,094. Total number of buildings, 92.

New Buildings—Structures completed during the last year are the McKinley hospital, first unit of men's new gymnasium, first unit of new library, dairy manufactures building, stadium, new commerce building, west residence hall, and six minor agricultural buildings. Others now under construction or soon to be started are the second units of the new gymnasium and the new library, architectural building, addition to the armory, and pharmacy building.

What Price Stadium?—The total cost to date is about $1,735,635. Subscriptions amount to $2,172,293.69. There are 21,243 subscribers (9,348 alumni and citizens; 11,895 students.)

Stadium Dimensions—Each stand is 586'x193'x110'. (Roof of the press box is 120'.) The two main stands and the temporary ends seat 67,205.

Gold Star Illini—187 columns in the Stadium bear names of Illini who died while in active service during the World War or who died during the war period from the effects of service.

Athletics For All—The intramural athletics department has organized competition in 16 sports. In 1925-26, 1,300 men participated in the intramural relay carnival, 1,187 in basketball, and 1,150 in baseball.

Required Physical Education—Commencing last year, both men and women students must register for four years of physical education. All are required to swim at least 50 yards before they may receive a degree.

"The young man, when he leaves college, must catch at the earliest possible moment the drum beat of progress and never cease to keep step."

THE OLD PROFESSORS

By Carl Stephens

Secretary, Alumni Association; Editor, Illinois Alumni News

"And how is old Prof. So-and-So? I'd like to see him."

This is an exclamation frequently heard at Homecoming and Commencement. As the University grows older, the traditions and the professors take on years, too. Time has a way of bringing all things.

Professors as a rule are not much given to self-advertisement. This accounts for the fact that alumni often get out of touch with them altogether. It was thought that a few words about some of them as they are today would be of interest in this Directory.

There are a few professors still living who have been on the retired list for several years, though most of them are quite active. C. W. Rolfe, '72, who lives in his old home near the campus on John street, owns several farms in the state, and devotes considerable time to the supervision of them. C. M. Moss lives on the Urbana side of the campus, and still keeps busy with his books. Eugene Davenport is on his farm at Woodland, Mich., and devotes most of his time to writing for magazines.

One professor emeritus who was supposed to have retired several years ago keeps right ahead, and is to be found in his office daily—S. A. Forbes, who has been connected with the University for 42 years. He founded the state laboratory of natural history almost 50 years ago. Some time ago he startled his friends by getting arrested for speeding in his automobile.

Another professor emeritus who apparently doesn't know what the word retired means is Miss Isabel Bevier, founder of the home economics department. After retiring here she taught for a time at the University of Arizona.

J. S. Kingsley has been living and studying in Berkeley, Calif., since his retirement.

= o =

We hardly think of Dean Clark as a professor, but certainly he can't be left out of any list of oldtimers. He has been serving the University 35 years. Of course, he is best known as dean of men, though for several years he taught English and rhetoric, and for a time Latin. During the last few years he has been spending more and more time writing. His articles are in considerable demand. His daily sermonettes have been syndicated and appear in various newspapers all over the United States.

= o =

A. N. Talbot, '81, professor of municipal and sanitary engineering and in charge of T. & A. M., has been on the job 41 years. He is an international authority on reinforced concrete, and is also widely known for his investigations into stresses on railway tracks. He has just retired as department head, but is continuing various lines of work.

H. J. Barton retired this year as professor of Latin and head of the department of classics after 35 years' service. He is a native of New England, having graduated from Dartmouth in 1876. Numerous graduating classes remember him as chairman of Commencement arrangements.

= o =

S. W. Parr, '84, professor of applied chemistry since 1891, enjoys an international reputation in his field. He is probably best known for his low-temperature process of coking coal. He has just retired from active work as head of applied chemistry, but is continuing his research work.

= o =

D. K. Dodge, now on leave of absence in California because of poor health, came to the University 34 years ago as professor of English. He has become nationally known for his studies of Abraham Lincoln.

= o =

Frank Smith, professor of zoology, first came to the University 33 years ago, and has served steadily since. Many alumni remember him for his interest in bird life.

= o =

E. J. Townsend, professor of mathematics and head of the department, has been at the University 33 years. For eight years he was dean of the old college of science.

= o =

O. A. Harker, dean of the college of law 13 years and connected with the college of law in some capacity or other for 29 years, retired this year as professor emeritus. During the last few years he has acted as legal counsel for the University.

= o =

N. A. Weston, '89, professor of economics, has been on the faculty continuously for 26 years, and for some time was acting dean of the college of commerce. His working library is unusually complete.

= o =

Morgan Brooks has been professor of electrical engineering at the University for 25 years. He holds various patents for automatic telephone systems.

= o =

H. W. Mumford, dean of agriculture since 1922, came to the University 25 years ago. For several years before becoming dean he was known as an expert in breeding, feeding, and judging live stock.

= o =

C. S. Crandall, professor of horticulture, who has been at the University 24 years, is widely known for his horticultural writings and investigations.

H. A. Hollister, professor of education and high school visitor, has been on the faculty 24 years and has done notable work in the development of high schools in the state. He originated the high school conference.

= o =

J. W. Garner, internationally known as an authority on political science, has been on the faculty 22 years. He is head of the political science department.

= o =

W. A. Noyes retired this year as head of the chemistry department. He has been at Illinois 19 years and has been largely responsible for the remarkable development of chemistry at the University.

= o =

Julius Goebel, head of the German department, who retired this year, has been at the University since 1908. He has been for many years editor of the Journal of English and German Philology.

= o =

William Trelease retired this year as professor of botany, but he is hardly considered an oldtimer because he has been here only 13 years. Before coming to Illinois he was for 23 years director of the Missouri botanical garden.

= o =

J. M. White, '90, who has been at the University 36 years, or ever since his graduation, is hardly in the "old profs" class, as he has a decade or so of service still ahead of him before his retiring age. He is professor of architectural engineering, supervising architect of the University, and superintendent of business operations, a three-way job that keeps him plentifully busy. He was dean of the college of engineering back in 1906-7.

THE DEDICATION OF THE MEMORIAL STADIUM—OCTOBER 18, 1924

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS MEMORIAL STADIUM

C. J. Roseberry, '05

The University of Illinois Memorial Stadium was completed in time to be dedicated with impressive solemnity on Friday afternoon, October 17, 1924, Mr. Robert F. Carr, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Memorial Stadium Fund, presided as Master of Ceremonies. The dedicatory address was made by President Kinley and the Stadium Ode was read by Lew Sarett, '16. On the following day, Saturday, October 18, the Stadium was dedicated for its utilitarian purpose by that never-to-be-forgotten victory over the University of Michigan football team, with a score of 39 to 14, in the presence of 68,000 people.

The dedication of the Memorial Stadium was the culmination of several years of thought, planning and work on the part of many Illini, both students and alumni, under the inspiring leadership of Mr. George A. Huff, '92, Director of Physical Education and President of the University of Illinois Athletic Association, ably assisted by Coach Zuppke. Our Stadium is probably the only one in the United States which combines the practical utility of a Stadium with the incorporation of the memorial colonnades within the structure itself. It is in truth a memorial Stadium in every sense of the word.

The committee charged with planning the Stadium succeeded in combining with the memorial a seating capacity of about 56,000 within the Stadium proper. This has been expanded by the use of temporary seats to a total capacity of about 68,000.

Too many of the subscribers to the Memorial Stadium Fund have fallen into the habit of thinking that because the Stadium was completed on schedule time for its dedication in October, 1924, as originally planned, it is complete in every way. In order that the building might be finished and dedicated according to the original program, it was necessary for the Stadium Committee to borrow about $350,000 from the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago, with which to pay the construction bills. This money was borrowed with the understanding that all unpaid subscriptions to the Stadium Fund would be held as collateral security for the payment of this loan, and that as collections were made the money would be turned over to the Continental Bank in reduction of the indebtedness. At this writing (July 1, 1926) about 11,000 subscriptions have been paid in full out of 21,100 pledges made to the Stadium Fund, and within thirty or sixty days probably another 500 to 1,000 subscribers will join the paid in full list.

There remains an indebtedness of $160,000 (as of July 1, 1926) which must be paid off by collections to be made from the July 1st maturity and any subsequent maturities, and also from overdue Stadium installments. The Executive Committee is firm in its faith that the subscribers will within a reasonable time meet these delinquent accounts and make it possible to meet this remaining indebtedness, and thus complete the first great gift of alumni and students to their Alma Mater.

It will be well for all Stadium subscribers, particularly those football fans living in Chicago and vicinity, to keep in mind the fact that the annual game with Chicago University will be played at Stagg Field on November 6, 1926. The rules and regulations for ticket allotments for the season of 1926, as published in the June issue of Stadium Notes, will govern the sale of tickets under the direction of Ticket Manager, W. H. Stohrer and his assistants. Ticket applications and information leaflets were sent out during the latter part of August, 1926. As the tickets for the Chicago game are limited, we urge the Paid-in-Full subscribers to order early so as to be among those who get tickets.

During the present summer, the University and the Athletic Association have agreed to co-operate in the laying of paving and sidewalk approaches to the Stadium, which will vastly improve and facilitate the comfortable handling of the large crowds attending Homecoming and other games.

Other improvements and additions to the Stadium have been made from time to time by the Athletic Association. Director Huff has in mind the addition of other facilities for the benefit of the student body. He wishes to install an ice-skating rink in the west great hall of the Stadium, to enclose the east great hall, and to place a wood floor therein so that the hall may be used for intramural basketball and possibly for handball courts. Other football fields for practice must be tiled and sodded. Additional baseball diamonds and tennis courts must be provided for the increasing number of contests in the intramural department. These improvements are being paid for out of receipts from football games played in the Stadium.

Thus the gift of the Memorial Stadium to the University by the alumni and students will result in greater facilities and benefits for the students who are to follow in the footsteps of those who have preceded them.

HOW TO BUY ILLINOIS FOOTBALL TICKETS

Application blanks and complete instructions for Illinois football tickets will be mailed late in August to all subscribers to the Memorial Stadium along with a special issue of Stadium Notes. This material will also be available at the Illinois ticket office in Chicago at the Hub from Sept. 1 on.

Those who are not subscribers may be placed on the mailing list to receive this information, by sending their names and addresses to the Football Ticket Office, 107 University Hall, Urbana. It is suggested that Illini urge their friends to send in their names to receive these blanks and instructions. The ticket office will be glad to send blanks and instructions to Illini to give their friends. Keep some on your desk.

The classifications and dates of sale for the alumni and general public are as follows:

Sept. 1—CLASS A. All paid-to-date and paid-in-full subscribers.

Sept. 11—CLASS B. All partially paid-to-date subscribers.

Sept. 13—CLASS C. (1) Paid-to-date subscribers who wish to bring friends and sit with them but do not want to use options. (2) Paid-to-date or paid-in-full subscribers ordering more seats than options allow. (3) Paid-to-date subscribers who have exhausted their options. (These three groups in Class C rank equally.)

Sept. 16—CLASS D. Members of alumni associations who are not subscribers. (On sale at Urbana only.)

Sept. 17—CLASS E. Alumni and former students who are not subscribers or members of alumni association. (On sale at Urbana only.)

Sept. 18—GENERAL PUBLIC.

Stadium subscribers who qualify for any of these preferences may obtain their tickets either by using the Chicago office or mailing their orders to the Urbana office. Note that Classes D and E, non-subscriber members of the alumni association and non-subscriber alumni, must order from Urbana.

On Sept. 18 the general public sale opens—that is, everybody may buy tickets, irrespective of Stadium subscriptions or University affiliations. Tell your non-Illini friends about this date.

Tickets for the out-of-town games, Michigan at Ann Arbor and Chicago at Chicago, will not be on sale at the Chicago ticket office, but must be ordered by mail from Urbana. Tickets for the Chicago game will be restricted to paid-to-date subscribers to the Stadium and they will be limited to two tickets each.

If you purchase tickets by mail, include 20 cents for orders of five or less and two cents additional for each additional five tickets. This is to defray registry and postage. All tickets from Urbana will be mailed in a special envelope—do not enclose a stamped envelope. Please remit by bank draft, certified check or postal or express order—no personal checks will be accepted. The office deals with thousands of people and to check up each remittance by personal check would be costly and time-consuming. Most Illini cheerfully co-operated with the ticket office in this matter last fall and their assistance is appreciated.

CRANE BEAUTY IN THE OPEN, CRANE QUALITY IN ALL HIDDEN FITTINGS

Play of light on its receding planes gives the Corwith bath the individual charm that marks Crane fixtures. Its practical convenience and economy match its beauty. Of cream-white enamel on iron, it is not only moderate in price, but is readily installed. The bottom is flat and only an inch above the floor level, making it easy and safe to enter and leave. It is supplied in three different types to fit a right or left-hand corner or an alcove setting. In four lengths also, 4½, 5, 5½ and 6 feet, to meet varied needs. Crane plumbing and heating fixtures are sold by contractors everywhere in a wide variety of styles at prices within reach of all. Let us send you an interesting booklet of color schemes, "The New Art of Fine Bathrooms."

Buy Your Illinois Football Tickets Over the Counter at the Hub

ILLINOIS will maintain a football ticket office at Henry C. Lytton and Sons (The Hub), State at Jackson, where tickets for all Illinois home games will be on sale, from Sept. 1 to Nov. 19. (Tickets for the Michigan and Chicago games must be ordered from Urbana.)

The office will be open daily except Saturdays, from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and from 12:30 until 5 p. m. (Note that office is closed from 11:30 to 12:30 daily.) It will be located on the main floor just east of the elevators.

Tickets will be sold from the same sections which are being sold at the Urbana ticket office the same day. You will get just as good locations and you will save the trouble of correspondence. If you have to send mail orders, send them to the football ticket office, Urbana.

From Sept. 1 to Sept. 17 the Chicago sale will be limited to subscribers to the Memorial Stadium, who qualify for preferred classes. The general sale, irrespective of any preference, will open on Sept. 18.

Please note that personal checks will not be accepted at either the Chicago or Urbana offices.

Patronize the Chicago office yourself. Tell your non-Illini friends about it.

AS County Treasurer, P. J. Carr, now candidate for Sheriff of Cook County, has done everything in his power to further the cause of education by expediting the payment of funds to school districts.

Last year Mr. Carr appeared before the General Assembly and procured an amendment to the law enabling him to pay direct to the finance officers of city and suburban schools in Cook County the interest earned on school funds in his charge. For his efforts in this regard Mr. Carr has been thanked by Col. Edward Ellicott, president of the Chicago Board of Education and by the presidents of several suburban school boards.

Mr. Carr during his six years of his incumbency as County Treasurer has returned to the public coffers $6,500,000 in interest—more than the combined total returned by all his predecessors.

Mr. Carr's record entitles him to election as

University Alumni and your Advertising

What becomes of the university graduates after leaving college?

They go into all branches of business and professions, and become substantial citizens and recognized leaders in their communities.

As a class, they are above average, both in earning power and standard of living.

In their own buying power and by their strong influence on those about them, they suggest a splendid field for the intelligent advertiser.

From questionnaires sent to our readers we have gathered the following facts:

The average age is 36 years.

The average income is over $7,000.

83% own automobiles (many, more than one car).

78% are married.

55% own their homes.

The average income from investments is $998.

The average annual business expenditure controlled by these men is $75,000.

The BIG TEN WEEKLY, founded in April, 1924, is a magazine devoted exclusively to athletics in the Western Conference Universities, and as such is recognized as an authority on this subject. It is now read by over 13,000 enthusiastic conference alumni.

If you have not already seen a copy, we shall be glad to send you one.

Also, we shall be pleased to submit advertising rates on application.

The Victory of Greater Value

In that characteristically American restless searching out of value more and more men are coming to the same exact conclusion—that Nash does offer more for the money in every way.

Down thru the months and years the eager demand has grown and multiplied so swiftly that long ago the rise in Nash sales matched and passed the forward pace of the industry—matched and passed it and swung far out into the lead, racing on ahead and alone with accelerating speed.

For instance, the first six months of 1926 turned in a volume of Nash business equaling close to 82% of the total sales for the whole of 1925.

No other American car is gaining ground with anything like this speed and continuity.

This is the reward and this is the Victory of Greater Value.

THE STADIUM

BECOME A SUBSCRIBER TO THE MEMORIAL STADIUM

IT isn't too late to share in the building of this great monument to Illinois loyalty. Your subscription will help to complete the Great Halls of the Stadium for intramural athletics and recreation for all students, which work will require at least $100,000, and to pay off the present debt of almost $170,000.

By becoming a Stadium Builder you will immediately acquire valuable privileges for the purchase of football tickets.

1926 Chicago Tickets to Subscribers Only

On account of the limited allotment of tickets from the University of Chicago for the Illinois-Chicago game at Chicago this year, it is necessary to restrict the purchase of tickets to paid-to-date Stadium subscribers, who also are limited to two tickets each. No guarantee is made that every eligible subscriber will receive tickets, but those who order in reasonable time more than likely will get them.

Options for Seats

With each $100 subscribed you receive an option to purchase at the regular prices, one ticket for ten years or two tickets for five years, for all games in the Stadium.

Football Tickets First

During the life of your option, as long as your subscription is paid-to-date, you automatically "rate" Class A in the classifications for ticket distribution—which means that your orders for tickets are filled first, provided that they are received in due time.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS BAND IN SEPARATE FORMATIONS

GEORGE HUFF

THERE are two crowning achievements to the career of George Huff, director of physical welfare—the Memorial Stadium and the Four-Year Course in Athletic Coaching and Physical Education. Director Huff can look back upon a remarkable record as Illinois' baseball coach and upon the great department of athletics and physical education which he has built up. But the Memorial Stadium and the Four-Year Course will always stand as highlights in his life.

There were other outstanding figures in the campaign for the Stadium—such as Robert C. Zuppke, whose zealous service will never be forgotten by Illinois men, but it was George Huff who conceived the idea and step by step carried it through.

Mr. Huff played on the first ball team in 1889 and was captain and manager of the baseball team for two years. In 1895 he became coach of football and in 1901 he was appointed director of physical education for men.

George Huff's creed of sportsmanship is expressed in one of the inscriptions on the pylons at the Memorial Stadium, as follows:

"May this Stadium ever be a temple of sportsmanship, inspiring the athletes of the University of Illinois and those who cheer them as they play always to uphold the spirit and tradition of Illinois athletics:

"To play manfully and courageously to the last, no matter what the odds—to play fairly within the spirit and the letter of the rules—to win without boasting and lose without excuse."

"May these ideals of manliness, courage and true sportsmanship find expression not only within the Stadium, but throughout the life of the University. Above all, may the Stadium always be the symbol of a great united University, drawing closer together in common bond and spirit all the men and women of Illinois."

FOOTBALL

ILLINOIS' football squad sped eastward last fall, followed by thousands of loyal Illini alumni and students, while the middle-west appealed to the players to battle for the honor and prestige of the west. The team was to play Pennsylvania, undefeated for two years, victor over Yale and Chicago. Illinois, although it was led by Harold Grange, was known to have a green and inexperienced line. It was the first invasion of the east by a Zuppke-coached Illinois team.

How the Illini decisively defeated Penn before a mighty crowd on Franklin field is history. The team that did it will always be known as "The Team that Came Back." The Saturday before it had battled the champion Michigan team to a standstill, losing by a field goal. The green linemen who were overcome in the early season games by Nebraska and Iowa came into their own at Penn. The Illini finished the season gloriously, defeating Chicago and Ohio.

At Illinois the humblest substitute knows he will get his chance if he deserves it. To Penn Coach Zuppke took a squad of 34 players and all but one, a cripple at the time, got into the game. There is no danger that a good player will be lost in the shuffle. Nobody is dropped from the freshman squad which is supervised by a number of excellent coaches. Every freshman has an opportunity to show his mettle. Many of the famous names in Illinois football are those of men who came with no unusual fame or promise.

Hard schedules, such as the 1925 team played, are typical of Illinois under Robert C. Zuppke. It is significant that in thirteen years of coaching at Illinois, Bob Zuppke's teams have a margin of at least one victory over every other conference team, with the exception of Michigan. When the Wolverines defeated the Illini by a scant three points last fall, they evened up the score. On top of this "Zup" has coached five teams to championships, of which two were shared with other teams. The record follows:

ILLINOIS FOOTBALL TEAM, 1902
 McKnight, Tuttle, Mgr., Pitts, Rothgeb, Cook, Bronson, Kasten
 Parker, Fairweather, Beers, Stahl, Capt., Stone
 Diener, Wilson, Capen, Bundy, Huntoon, McKinley

	Won by Illinois	Won by Opponents	Tied

Minnesota	4	3	1
Iowa	5	3	0
Michigan	3	3	0
Northwestern	5	0	0
Purdue	3	0	1
Total	42	20	6

Championships won or tied: 5.

Meeting four big conference teams and Pennsylvania to boot, Illinois will have a most interesting football schedule this fall. Iowa, Penn and Ohio are the three big home games. It is probably true that Michigan and Chicago, other things being equal, will draw better at Illinois than any other football team, and neither plays here this season. This fact, and the passing of Grange makes some fans pessimistic as to the probability of "sellouts" in the stadium this year.

Athletic association officials and most enthusiasts do not share this apprehension. The most general prediction is that the stadium will be filled for the Iowa and Pennsylvania games. The size of the Ohio crowd will depend on what kind of a showing both the Illini and Buckeyes have made. Iowa, being the homecoming attraction, will undoubtedly pack the stadium. Pennsylvania comes here for the one big intersectional game to be played in the middle-west. The Ben Franklins will be the first eastern team to play in the stadium. They will bring their band and the game will be made the occasion of a great Penn alumni rally. This will also be Dad's day.

Therefore, it would appear the part of wisdom to order tickets just as early as you did last year.

There will be some interesting side features to the opening game with Coe on Oct. 2. Coe college is a new name on the local schedule. Located at Cedar Rapids, Ia., it has a reputation for good teams. Last year, Coe played Wisconsin to a tie. The athletic association has invited the Boy Scouts of Illinois and Indiana to be guests at this game, and a similar invitation has gone to the public and parochial school children of Champaign and adjoining counties. Members of the Illinois press association, which will meet here, also will be guests at the Coe game.

Player Prospects—With practically a veteran line from end to end and a promising back field, even if it will be green, the outlook for a good football team is excellent. "Red" Grange will be gone, after three years of spectacular service, but if the new backs develop as it is hoped they will, it is quite possible that Illinois will be stronger than last year.

For three years Coach Zuppke has built his attack around one brilliant player, not only because this was eminently logical but because there were no other high-class ground-gainers. Grange's companions behind the line have been reliable backs, effective cogs in the masterful interference machine which helped "Red" to make the most of his superb ability, but usually good for only short gains themselves. Now Zuppke hopes to be able to develop a back field of balanced ground-gaining power even if there will be no one player who comes near to approaching the matchless "Red."

Out of the 22 players who received varsity letters last season, ten have passed off the scene:

Linemen—Brown, Cooledge, Wickhorst, Fisher.

End—Muhl.

Backs—Grange, Britton, Hall, Greathouse, Jenks.

Muhl was out of the game practically all the season and several other players honored with letters were reserves, so the list gives a greater impression of lost forces than is actually the case.

Last season Coach Zuppke was obliged to build up a new line out of inexperienced material, a job he performed admirably, for the new line found itself at mid-season when Illinois kept Michigan from scoring a touchdown and defeated Pennsylvania, Chicago and Ohio. Brown, tackle, and Cooledge, guard, are the only linemen missing who played at all regularly. This year Zuppke probably will be able to start the season with this experienced line:

Ends—Capt. Kassel and D'Ambrosio; tackles, Marriner and Grable; guards, Mitterwallner and Shively; center, Reitsch. With the exception of Grable, this was the usual starting lineup last season, and Grable played enough to be accounted a regular. Muegge, guard, and Wilson, end, reserves, will also be available.

The most outstanding new candidate for the line seems to be Nowack, a 196-pound sophomore tackle, who gained considerable fame as a player at Pana high school. Other tackle possibilities are Perkins, Brennan, McClure and Nichols. Knapp, Kuenzli, Picard and E. W. Schultz, squad members, and Jones, Scheel, Conerty and Wheeler, sophomores, are candidates for guard. Richman was the best freshman center last year, and is groomed as an understudy for Reitsch, with Trees another promising center.

Brown appeared to be the most likely freshman end, being especially proficient as a pass-receiver, and Wolgast is regarded as another good prospect. There will also be Squires, Drake and Cotie, squadmen, who played intermittently as sub ends, and Gamble, a sophomore.

Daughterity, fullback, after Grange, the best ground-gainer last season, undoubtedly will find a place in the new backfield combination. Green, another regular back, has sundry scholastic tangles to unravel, but Gallivan and Leonard, sub backs, will be available. However, all indications point to the trying out of a backfield composed of three sophomores and Daughterity. The sophs are Timm, Peters and Lanum. All through spring practice Coach Zuppke worked with this combination. Timm is a stocky 170-pound lad from Idaho who runs low and is hard to stop. "Frosty" Peters, another westerner (from Montana) has been done considerable injustice by reports labeling him as the "successor to Grange." Peters, whose playing weight is around 170 pounds, is a fast open-field runner who may develop, but even if he realizes his greatest possibilities, he cannot hope to be a Grange. Much of Peters' fame rests on his achievement of 17 field goals, the world's record for one game, in a contest played by the freshman team of the University of Montana.

However, it is to Frank Lanum, a former Decatur high school player, that the Illini look for a successor to Britton in kicking. Lanum, who has had two brothers on the Illinois varsity, weighs 190 pounds and stands 6 feet one inch. The dope is that Lanum will call the signals, back up the line, kick and pass, and in general replace Britton.

Other promising candidates will be:

Quarterbacks, Stuessey and Hickman; halfbacks, Murchison, a brother of the famous sprinter, and Edwards; fullbacks, Stuhmer and Ringquist, a former Illinois Wesleyan player, and French, a squad member last season.

Garland Grange, brother of "Red," will be tried out either for end or halfback. "Gardie" was a member of the squad at the start of last season, but withdrew to undergo an operation on his shoulder, injured back in his prep school days. The younger Grange is fast and has talent, though so far he has shown no signs of ability at all comparable with that of his famous brother.

BASKETBALL

VARSITY basketball moved into its fine new home at Illinois this year—the splendid playing floor of the men's new gymnasium, where there is seating capacity for 7,000. Here it was that the Illini cheered Captain "Ted" Haines and his teammates in their 1926 battles. Illinois' conference record, six games won and lost, all things considered, was conceded to be as good as might be expected.

Illinois had an excellent record in basketball before Craig Ruby came to coach four years ago—its achievements included one championship team which won all its games and a tie for the championship. But under Coach Ruby the Illini predict that the record will even be better. In the four years in which he has coached here his teams have won 29 and lost 19 conference games. This is bettered by only one conference rival, Purdue, which has won 29 and lost 18 games in the same time, one game scheduled having been called off.

In 1923, Ruby's first season, Illinois won seven games to five lost. When Illinois in the next season, 1924, tied with Wisconsin and Chicago for the championship, the feat was a tribute to the fighting spirit of the five and the skill and determination of the young coach. Illinois lost four out of its first six games, two by one point. The team was considered completely out of the race—the captain was injured—but, undaunted, players and coach "came back" so superbly that six successive games were won, and the championship shared. In 1925, with one regular from 1924 available, and without a well-balanced squad, Illinois won seven straight Big Ten games before the team suffered a defeat. The team won eight and lost four games, winning a tie for second place.

Coach Ruby's playing experience was at the University of Missouri, where he was twice captain and was declared by his coach, Dr. Meanwell, now of Wisconsin, to be "the best basketball man I have ever had under my direction." When Coach Meanwell left, the young player was selected to succeed him—a severe test. But under Ruby's coaching Missouri won the Missouri Valley championship in 1921 and tied for first honors in 1922.

Brought up under the short-passing game, Ruby's playing experience led him to develop a style of his own, based on the fundamentals and best points of the short-passing game, but combined with adaptations from the long-passing system.

Careful attention is paid to the development of the freshmen. The lad who thinks that he can make good if he can only get a chance receives a full opportunity. Coach Ruby handles his men well, is a strict disciplinarian, but is quick to applaud as well as censure. His men like him. And they know he "knows."

BASEBALL

ILLINOIS is a stronghold of baseball interest. Historic triumphs of the past inspire the players of today. In the trophy cases in the old gym are countless baseballs—some painted in the colors of Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania and West Point—mementoes of the year when Coach George Huff and Captain Carl Lundgren led the Illini east—others wrested from the Chicago Cubs in the days of "Tinker to Evers to Chance" when the Chicago national leaguers were world's champions. Under George Huff, director of physical welfare, Illinois in 24 years won eleven baseball championships and tied another. Carl Lundgren succeeded Director Huff as coach and in two out of five years of his regime Illinois nines have been champions.

In some universities baseball may be sparsely attended but Illinois Field is evident of the important niche which the sport occupies here. A new stand has been erected and it is possible to seat 10,000 persons. As many as 10,000 have witnessed a game in the past. Football and track reign in the Memorial Stadium but baseball has Illinois field for its very own. There is an excellent diamond for the freshman squad, which is coached by Paul J. Stewart, former Illinois captain. The freshmen play many games with the varsity and the annual varsity-freshman game is warmly contested. The varsity squad annually takes a southern trip for ten days.

Carl Lundgren's pitching was an important factor when Illinois won the baseball championships in 1900 and 1902. Then he was a standby in the box for the Chicago Cubs for seven years, in two of which they were world's champions and three, national league leaders. In 1905 he was the third pitcher in the league, fourth in 1906 and fifth in 1907. After serving as Princeton freshman coach for two years, in 1914 he became Michigan's coach. Under "Lundy" the Wolverines won the conference championship three years in a row. He was called by Illinois and his teams here took first place in 1921 and 1922, making a total of five years in which his nines had been champions.

The secret of Coach Lundgren's success is in his thorough knowledge of the game from every angle, and the painstaking, careful methods which he uses in coaching. He will spend as much time correcting some flaw in the delivery of a "rookie" pitcher as if he were a fullblown star. Mistakes evoke no loud "bawling out." He quietly points out the error, and the player resolves that he will never do it again. Illinois is proud that Carl Lundgren is one of her own sons—proud of his record as a player and coach and of him as a man.

HARRY GILL—MAKER OF CHAMPIONS

There are six university relays on the program of the Drake relay meet. This year University of Illinois relay teams flashed to victory in three of these six races—the quarter-mile, half-mile and medley relays—and placed second in the four-mile and third in the one-mile. No other conference team won a relay event.

Illinois' 1926 relay campaign opened at the University of Texas with a victory in the half-mile and continued at the Rice Institute races at Houston, Texas, where the Illini runners took the quarter-mile, half-mile, and medley relays. At Kansas Gill's athletes were victors in the four-mile relay and at Ohio on the same day they won the distance medley. In all these games the Illinois acquitted themselves well in the individual events.

Illinois competed in two dual meets during the indoor season, defeating Notre Dame and Iowa and placed fourth in the indoor conference championships, six points behind the leaders. Outdoors, the team has decisively defeated Notre Dame and Ohio Wesleyan, in its sole meet.

Thus, the track team of 1926 maintained the victorious tradition of Illinois track athletics. It is not a squad of brilliant stars, but rather of fine-spirited, hard-working athletes, who are being developed to their best possibilities by their coach, Harry L. Gill.

It is very doubtful if the record of continued success by Illinois teams under Coach Gill since he came to Illinois in 1904 can be equalled by any other coach in any branch of athletics. This is not merely a partisan opinion, but it is held by most critics who have studied the amazing list of victories achieved and records established by the Illini teams under Mr. Gill. In 22 years they have won 92 dual meets, lost 16, and tied two. The climax of success was reached in 1924 when Illinois athletes who had been trained by Harry Gill scored 35 points in the Olympic games at Paris—more points than those made by any other university—more than twice as many as Harvard, Yale and Princeton combined, and nearly twice as many as the total scoring of all the rest of the Big Ten universities.

"Beyond a doubt the greatest track and field team ever gotten together at any college" is the way "Ted" Meredith, famous Pennsylvania track star, described the 1924 Illinois track team. And he was joined in this sentiment by sport writers all over the country. Grantland Rice in the New York Herald-Tribune said that it was one of the greatest track teams ever developed in the history of athletics. James Weber Linn in the Chicago Herald-Examiner said, "Illinois has the strongest all-around team that has ever been known in the West and probably in the country. I suspect she could take on Harvard, Yale and Princeton and defeat them single handed." The 1924 team defeated Michigan, 106 to 29, and won the conference with 74 points, nearly twice as many as the nearest competitor.

Most of the athletes who have carried the Orange and Blue colors to these perennial victories have had no exceptional promise or experience when they first reported. Some even never had put on a spiked shoe, the most striking example of this being "Bud" Evans, '25, world's record holder in the 220-yards dash. H. M. Fitch, '23, who placed second in the world's record-smashing 440-meters run in the Olympic games, when a junior ran in an intramural meet where Coach Gill observed him and persuaded him to report for practice. Harry Gill not only has the knack of discerning latent talent, but of diagnosing the events for which athletes are best fitted. Thus, Captain Chick Werner of the 1926 team, one of the best high hurdlers in the country, aspired to be a high jumper as a sophomore and had never tackled hurdling.

Golf is a popular sport at Illinois and many players daily crowd the admirable nine-hole course of the University. The course though compact makes an interesting game for the best of players. Illinois' varsity team has made excellent showings in the past. Last year the team won two dual meets and finished well up in the conference. This is the second year in charge of Coach Dave Swank, who, although an undergraduate student, has been a professional player for six years in Michigan.

The team is captained by "Bill" Tewksbury, a steady, reliable player from the LaGrange Country Club, who shoots consistently in the neighborhood of seventy.

Illinois is an ideal place for the development of tennis enthusiasm. In the early spring the varsity squad uses the new asphalt courts at the Stadium. There are forty courts available, besides the ten varsity courts. The varsity squad is coached by Alvin R. Cahn of the faculty; an enthusiast and student of the game. Two years ago the Illini racquetballers won the Big Ten championship and last year they defeated Purdue, Chicago and Ohio while Goodville and Earle in the doubles were runners-up for Big Ten honors. "Eddy" Shoaf is captain of the 1926 varsity team.

PENN FIRST EASTERN TEAM TO PLAY IN THE STADIUM

To the University of Pennsylvania falls the honor of being the first eastern football team to play in the Illinois Memorial Stadium and there is unusual interest in the meeting on October 30. This is the one big intersectional battle to be staged in the middle-west.

Illinois' successful invasion of Franklin field last season, when the Illini, led by Grange, conquered the Red and Blue by a score of 24 to 2 is history. Penn is eager to retaliate and with a nucleus of 18 varsity letter men, has excellent prospects for a strong team. The overwhelming Illinois victory last season should not lead Illini partisans to underestimate the strength of the Ben Franklins. In 1924 they were undefeated and Illinois' victory in 1925 broke a winning streak in which Penn defeated Brown, Yale and Chicago. Later last season Penn was defeated by Pittsburgh but conquered Cornell.

It is interesting to note Penn's standing with two leading western teams: Pennsylvania-Chicago series (since 1898)—won by Penn, 4; lost, none; tied, 1; Pennsylvania-Michigan series (since 1899)—won by Penn, 7; won by Michigan, 4; tied, 2.

The Illinois-Penn game will be the fifth eastern engagement which Illinois has fought. The Illini went east to defeat Syracuse in 1909 and again won from the easterners at Illinois in 1910. In 1916 Colgate, later eastern champion, opened the season on Illinois field, defeating the Illini. Then came the invasion of Franklin field last year.

Last year Illinois sent its band to Penn where it made a big hit. This time, Pennsylvania will send its band to Illinois. The Red and Blue band is a high-class organization and its appearance will add much color to the occasion.
